Introduction

This edition of Books About Singapore lists English books held by the National Library Board, Singapore. The annotated bibliography includes older standard works, as well as new works published since the previous 2007 edition. New titles have been added, as much as possible, to reflect the latest developments in the specific areas of interest.

It covers more than 19 subject categories, including Flora and Fauna, History and Social Issues. Click on the tabs above to view the list for each subject area. This serves as a useful reference point for readers wishing to be informed on the publications about different aspects of Singapore life. The entries are arranged alphabetically by title, followed by the author’s name, year of publication, place of publication and publisher’s name. The call number is also included at the end of each entry to indicate where the title is to be found. To view the library catalogue record, click on the title of the book.

This has created new and increasing demands on Singapore's healthcare system and on the families of the older adults. The challenge is in providing a system of care that is humane, effective and sustainable financially. This requires coordination between state funded providers, the family and the community. This book offers a multi-disciplinary perspective by researchers from various disciplines such as medicine, sociology, anthropology and law on managing healthcare and end-of-life decisions in Singapore. Providing information and suggestions for better policy formulation towards the aged, this book is an invaluable resource for policy makers, service practitioners and scholars working on Asian gerontology.
